How to Get a Clear Connection if...

You want to go into the MILITARY:

Contact recruiters in the fall of the senior year.
Recruiter phone numbers are located in the blue pages of the phone book under government listings.
Take the ASVAB to determine your skill level in various areas.

You want to do an APPRENTICESHIP:

Look up individual programs (electrical, carpentry, etc.) in the yellow pages of the phone book under Apprenticeship Programs and /or Labor Organizations.
Call the appropriate program and make an appointment to investigate what they have to offer.

You want to go into the JOB MARKET:

Investigate different careers available without post-secondary education.
Make an appointment with your counselor to review your interest inventory.
Visit web sites such as:

<http://www.omaha.com> (Omaha World Herald classifieds)
<http://www.dol.state.ne.us> (Nebraska Workforce Development)
<http://www.rileyguide.com> (Riley Guide - major job search sites and short description of each)
<http://www.jobbank.com> (America's Job Bank - lists state job service job listings.)
<http://www.careerlink.org> (Nebraska CareerLink)
<http://www.bls.gov/oco> (Occupational Outlook Handbook)
<http://www.career.missouri.edu> (Career Interest Game)
<http://www.acinet.org> (America's Career Information Network)

You want to go to a 2-YEAR OR TECH SCHOOL:

Investigate possible programs on Naviance at <http://connection.naviance.com>.
Make an appointment and visit the institution. Attend the College Fair the last Sunday of October; attend the College Affaire in May.
Fill out the FAFSA to see if you qualify for financial aid.
Visit the EducationQuest Foundation at Rockbrook Village (108th and Center) for financial aid information.
Log onto www.educationquest.org.
Attend the technology fair at your high school.
Watch the guidance newsletter for 2-year college/vocational school scholarships.
Acquaint yourself with computer resources in the Career Center.
Turn in all applications to counselors and request transcripts. (see p. 12)
Meet with college representatives at the high school whenever possible.

You want to go to a MILITARY ACADEMY:

Begin your file with Nebraska senators and representative by contacting their offices.
Submit cards to selected service academies to begin your file.
Visit academy site if possible. Summer camps are offered for students between junior and senior year.
Check on-line for applications.
<http://www.usma.edu/> (United States Military Academy)
<http://www.usafa.af.mil> (United States Air Force Academy)
<http://www.usna.edu> (United States Naval Academy)
Attend an All Academy Day to learn more about application process and visit with academy representatives.
Take ACT and/or SAT and forward scores to senators and representative.
Turn in all applications by deadlines. Selection committees will evaluate all applicants via personal interview and application.

....Continued

You want to go to a 4 YEAR INSTITUTION/UNIVERSITY/COLLEGE:

Investigate career and college options with Naviance. Log on at <https://connection.naviance.com>. Visit several college campuses. Attend the College Fair the last Sunday of October; attend the College Affaire in May.

Meet with college representatives at your high school whenever possible.

Talk to your counselor. Help him/her get to know you so he/she can write informed letters of recommendation.

Give teachers 2-3 weeks to write letters of recommendation. Give him/her your résumé.

Register for ACT and/or SAT. Plan to take the test at least twice and no later than December of your senior year.

Turn in all applications to counselors. (see p. 12)

Visit the EducationQuest Foundation at Rockbrook Village (108th and Center) for financial aid information.

Log onto www.educationquest.org.

Fill out a preliminary FAFSA form and discuss finances with parents.

Volunteer in the community and keep an updated list of activities.

Read the guidance news for dates of college visits and for information on scholarships.

Get Connected with Career Planning

Before you decide on a post-secondary setting you should investigate potential career options. Things to especially consider are interest in a specific career, aptitude for that career, and the job market for that career in the future. For instance, the U.S. Department of Labor predicts that only 20% of the careers in the first quarter of the 21st century will require a four year college degree and that 65% of the possible careers will require post secondary education of two years or less. You can prepare for this job marketplace in a variety of ways:

- Network with parents and adult friends to learn more about the current job market.
- Take interest inventories available in the counseling office.
- Participate in career shadowing experiences.
- Visit the reference section of the school's library.
- Attend the school technology fair and/or career fair.
- Take the Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery (ASVAB).
- Choose high school courses to investigate a variety of career possibilities.
- Seek employment in jobs which are potential career possibilities.
- Participate in volunteer experiences related to a possible career choice.
- Listen to career speakers in your building whenever possible.

Making a Transition From High School

Do You Have “Senioritis”?

“Senioritis” is a very real malady, characterized by the inability to make decisions and meet deadlines, disinterest in school and decline in academic achievements. Here are a few ideas to help you enjoy the end of a high school career while preparing for the next steps.

- Try a new hobby, sport, club or volunteer activity.
- Stay organized to meet important deadlines.
- Keep an optimistic outlook about the college admission process.
- Develop a good attitude toward your studies; try to see the reasons for taking each course.
- Set realistic and ambitious goals.

The First Year Away from Home

It’s completely normal for college freshmen to be awed and even frightened by their new life-style and it’s just as normal for that alienation to snowball into loneliness and homesickness. Most homesickness stems from a simple lack of readiness to be independent. The most common traps and what you can do to prevent tripping over them:

- ✓ Inability to manage finances, including budgeting, writing checks and overusing credit cards — Learn to manage money while in high school. Consider taking Personal Finance or Adult Living Class. (Parents: allow your child to make more financial decisions for themselves. Caution them about indebtedness but give them responsibility for a portion of their educational expenses.)
- ✓ Anticipation for a fresh start, yet comfort for the familiar — Parents, don’t be too eager to convert your child’s bedroom for some other use, however, if they come home frequently, encourage them to stay on campus and get involved in activities. Recognize that the first year of college is an adjustment for parents as well.
- ✓ Difficulty managing time — Be realistic about what you can accomplish, eliminate dead time and do difficult tasks when you have the most energy.
- ✓ Poor health habits — Make time to exercise, avoid late night snacks and get a good night’s sleep.

Guidance Web Pages

Each Millard High School maintains its own guidance webpage. These web pages contain hotlinks that can be used to access career and college planning information.

You will also find a copy of your respective school's guidance newsletter. The newsletter contains information such as dates of visits from career and college representatives, available scholarships and their deadlines, workshops and open houses.

College Fair

Over 200 college representatives attend the Greater Omaha College Fair annually held on the last Sunday in October. Junior and Senior students and their parents are encouraged to participate. Sophomore and Junior parents and students are encouraged to attend.

College Affaire - Over 100 colleges are represented. Held in early May.

College Applications

Applications can be obtained from the college, websites or from the counseling center. Many colleges will send an application if you sent them your ACT scores.

More and more colleges prefer on-line applications. Some will even waive application fees in return for on-line applications. Try to determine the best method of application for your school. See your counselor with any questions. A REMINDER: Your transcript cannot be sent on-line. Follow your school's procedures to have a transcript mailed to your college.

Attention NCAA Division I and II Student-Athletes:

Student-athletes who wish to participate in NCAA Division I or Division II sports in college MUST BE CERTIFIED by the NCAA Initial-Eligibility Center. Obtain a copy of “Making Sure You Are Eligible to Participate in College Sports” in the counseling center early in the first semester of your senior year. Don't delay this process—if you are uncertain about participation in Division I or II it is best to complete this process anyway. Failure to be certified may affect visitations to colleges regarding athletics, and college coaches may be reluctant to make commitments to athletes who have not completed the NCAA Initial-Eligibility certification. You may register online at www.ncaastudent.org. Be sure to print two copies for your high school and bring them to your counselor. Failure to do so may make you ineligible for NCAA activities. Also, make sure to list the Eligibility Center (9999) on your ACT choices for reports sent.

Connecting with the College That's Right For You

Why do you want to go to college:

What do you hope to gain?
What learning opportunities do you need?
What are your goals?
How will college help you achieve these goals?

Factors to consider in choosing a college:

1. Type of college
 - Two or four-year college?
 - Residential or commuter?
 - Large or small?
 - College or university?
2. Location
 - What area(s) of the country can you realistically consider?
 - What about the relation between location and costs?
 - Are specific interests and goals tied to a specific location?
3. Admissions selectivity
 - What are the admission requirements
 - Are you eligible for admission?
 - How academically demanding is the school?
4. Costs
 - How much will it cost?
 - What kind of financial aid is available?
 - How do you apply for financial aid?
5. Majors and programs
 - Does the school offer the major you want?
 - Does the school offer you the chance to explore several areas of interest?
 - Does the school have internships? exchange programs? study abroad?
6. Social life
 - What is the campus atmosphere like?
 - What extracurricular activities are available?

Admission Requirements for University of Nebraska-Lincoln

This sample is provided as a guide only. (There is no intent to promote the University of Nebraska at Lincoln.) Other universities in Nebraska may have similar requirements, and selective colleges and universities in other states may have more demanding high school requirements. Contact the colleges of your choice by sophomore or junior year of high school for up-to-date information on their requirements.

Admission Requirements

Category	Units	Requirements
English	4	All units must include intensive reading and writing. Speech and journalism may be substituted if they include substantial amounts of reading and writing.
Mathematics	4	Must include Algebra, Geometry, Advanced Algebra, and one additional unit that builds on knowledge of algebra.
Social Studies	3	At least one unit of American and/or world history and one additional unit of history, American government, and/or Geography.
Natural Science	3	At least two units selected from biology, chemistry, or physics, earth sciences. One of the units must include laboratory instruction.
Foreign Language	2	Students who are unable to take two years of foreign language in high school may still qualify for admission. Such students will be required to take two semesters of foreign language at the University of Nebraska. These students are still required to complete 16 units of academic courses for admission.
Total Units	16

Performance Requirements (UNL)

In addition to meeting the above core course requirements, students applying for admission to the university should:

- be ranked in the upper one-half of their high school class or
- have received an ACT composite score of 20 or higher or
- have received an SAT total score of 950 or higher (Critical Reading and Math only)

Students who do not meet the above requirements for assured admission are sometimes admitted by review. Each application will receive individual review for demonstration of potential for success at university-level work.

College Entrance Tests

Almost all colleges require tests for admission. Others may use the results for placement in courses or programs. Registration packets for all tests are available in the counseling office.

Types of Tests and Which Test to Take

ACT (American College Test) is used by the vast majority of colleges in the Midwest. It is a primary test used to determine Regents Scholarship winners in the University of Nebraska system (UNL, UNO, and UNK).

SAT is used more extensively by East Coast, West Coast, some southern colleges, and the military academies. Some selective admission colleges may request the SAT II's which are specific tests in a certain curriculum area. If you are not sure about the appropriate test, ask your counselor or refer to the specific college catalog or a general college handbook.

Important Notes:

1. Research has shown the scores increase in a high percentage of cases when a student retakes the test a second or even a third time. Colleges and scholarship will use your highest set of scores; so you have nothing to lose by retaking the test.
2. Register early to make it possible to schedule testing at your home high school. Check for schools that are SAT test centers.
3. Seniors - If you have not tested for the first time, register for the October date. Consider October through December as retake dates. Senior testing after December is too late for most purposes.
4. Juniors - You are strongly encouraged to take the PSAT in October, and the ACT and/or SAT in the spring.

For College Credit

Advanced Placement (AP) tests are given in May at your high school. Tests are scored 1-5 (5 is highest). Policies for granting credit vary from college to college. Before you register, contact the college you plan to attend.

*The PSAT is the qualifying test during the Junior year for the National Merit Scholarship Program. The National Merit Scholarship Program is a very prestigious test and may influence Senior year college and scholarship decisions; the specific scores are not generally used for admissions purposes.

Online Registration:

Students can register and pay test fees with a credit card by going on-line to:

ACT www.actstudent.org

SAT www.collegeboard.com

High School Code Number:

Use the following code number for the high school you attend regardless of where you take the test.

Millard South—281505

Millard North—281506

Millard West—281723

Life Saving Hints for Testing:

- Enroll in a test preparation course. See school counseling office for information.
- Study the test preparation book provided in the application packet.
- Use computer software available in the counseling office to sharpen your skills.
- Get a good night's sleep before the test.
- Eat breakfast.
- Arrive early. Don't forget photo ID and admission ticket.

Avoid the Static While Processing Your Application to a College or Vocational School

Unless you are sure you want to attend one specific college, it may be to your advantage to apply to several. When you decide on the colleges to which you wish to apply, follow the simple steps below.

Five Easy Steps

STEP 1: Complete the college application form. If the application requires teacher or counselor recommendations, arrange for those immediately. Some colleges have early admission deadlines, as early as mid-November. Check to make sure of your college's application deadline.

STEP 2: Write a check for the application fee if a fee is required. Do not send cash!

STEP 3: Complete a "Release of Information" form in the counseling office which gives the school permission to send your high school transcripts. List all colleges you are considering.

STEP 4: Pay a "ONE TIME" $5.00 Transcript Fee to your high school which pays postage and clerical costs for unlimited transcripts.

STEP 5: Bring all items in step 1 - 4 to your counselor. Be sure the address of the college admissions office is on your application form. An official transcript will be placed in the envelope and all material will be mailed to the college. This process reduces the chances of registration materials being lost or misfiled.

If you apply online you need to notify the counseling office in writing so they can send your transcript to the appropriate college or university.

Important Note About Teacher or Counselor Recommendations:

If recommendations are needed, ask a counselor or teacher who knows you well at least 2-3 weeks in advance of any deadlines. Providing the teacher with information about yourself and ample time to write their letter can enhance the recommendation. Give them a copy of your resume. (see p. 14)

Final Transcripts:

Most colleges and vocational schools require a final transcript. Counselors will give instructions on how to request final transcripts in May. Failure to do this will cause complications in the summer or during the fall semester when you register for college classes. ACT and SAT scores are not part of the official transcript. Check with your counselor.

Online applications

If you apply online you need to notify the counseling office in writing so they can send your transcript to the appropriate college or university.

Making Your Campus Visits Connect

Before The Visit:

- Contact the college admissions office at least one to two weeks in advance to schedule a date and time. Selective colleges may require more advance notice since they may schedule an interview.
- Plan your visit. You should try to visit the campus when classes are in session.
- Read the college's catalogs and brochures. This will provide general information, so you don't waste time on these questions during your visit.
- Prepare a list of specific questions so you can learn as much as you can about the school (see p. 8 to help develop questions).
- If possible, bring an unofficial copy of your high school transcript and know your PSAT, SAT, or ACT scores. Consider bringing your portfolio or instrument for an audition.
- Bring your parents.
- Visit the college web site for current information.

The Visit:

- Be on time. If you will be late or have to postpone your visit, call the college.
- Talk with as many people as you can to see a more complete picture of what a college is really like. An overnight stay and attending classes is highly recommended.
- Try to work some free time into your schedule. Use this time to wander around, perhaps drop into the campus snack bar, talk to students.

After The Visit:

- On your way home, while your thoughts are still fresh, jot down some of your impressions of the college.
- If questions come up after the visit, don't hesitate to contact the people you have met.
- Send thank-you notes to those with whom you had appointments.

Avoid Miscommunication...

Know About General Scholarship Information

The cost of college education may be met in three primary ways: federal grants, loans and scholarships. Since financial aid packages are uncertain and are not announced until May of the senior year, it is best to focus attention upon scholarships throughout the senior year and not rely on financial aid.

How to Avoid Scholarship Fraud:

- If you must pay money to get money, it might be a scam.
- If it sounds too good to be true, it probably is.
- Spend the time, not the money.
- Never invest more than a postage stamp to get information about scholarships.
- Nobody can guarantee that you'll win a scholarship.
- If you're suspicious of an offer, it's usually with good reason.

Students and families who suspect that a scholarship program might be a fraud should contact their school's guidance counselor or financial aid office and/or the following resources:

- FTC Consumer Response Center: www.ftc.gov or call (202)FTC-HELP
- National Fraud Information Center: www.fraud.org or call (800)876-7060
- Better Business Bureau: www.bbb.org or call (703)276-0100
- State Attorney General Office: Check for listing in your state

Scholarship Types

Academic or merit-based scholarships are rewards for having certain abilities or talents. Examples include high grades and class rank, test scores at certain levels, or a demonstrated talent in art, music, athletics, drama, or other areas.

Need-based scholarships frequently have some criteria relative to abilities or talents above; however, the selection may be primarily based upon the financial need of the student.

Four Major Sources of Scholarships

- Colleges and Universities (Best source)
- Civic, place of worship, parent-teacher, and other community groups
- Corporations, labor unions and professional organizations
- Military

Note: Never assume that college scholarship applications are automatic. Check with your counselor, or the college scholarship and financial office for application information.

Connecting with Sources of Scholarship Financial Aid Information

Web Sites: A wealth of information regarding scholarships and financial aid is available via internet. Visit your high school's home pages for information on scholarships and financial aid, college selection, testing, careers, study skills, and several other helpful aids.

Specific Scholarship Information

The scholarship listings which follow are purposely skeletal in nature. Students and parents are encouraged to review more detailed scholarship listings in the weekly guidance newsletters issued by each high school counseling office. Additional copies are available in the counseling offices at all schools and are also posted regularly in The Guidance Web Page. Students are strongly encouraged to take the newsletters home, and parents are encouraged to ask for them in order to fulfill their role described below.

Parental Role in the Scholarship Process

Parents can help in the scholarship process by:

- (1) reviewing the scholarship offerings in the guidance newsletter. Check your school's Guidance Web Page.
- (2) encouraging their student to pick up application forms.
- (3) urging the student to complete and return applications.
- (4) Helping Meet Scholarship Due Dates.

Obtaining Scholarship Applications

Scholarship application forms are available in the counseling office at the time they are listed in the guidance newsletter.

Some scholarship applications are not distributed to the guidance office, especially those unique to individual colleges and those sponsored by national organizations. You'll need to write or call for these scholarship applications. The references in the general scholarship section will help with addresses or phone numbers.

Note: Scholarships listed in the following pages are subject to change. It is not intended to be an all inclusive list.

Don't Lose Your Connection Get Connected with Financial Aid

How Do I Know If I Qualify? Or if I should Apply?

Determining financial aid eligibility is not easy. The financial aid application forms are fairly comprehensive and take considerable time to process.

A free "College Funding Estimator", available in the counseling center, will determine whether you might qualify for federal financial aid. The EducationQuest Foundation will process your worksheet and provide the results to you. You may also process your own form "online". They are very knowledgeable about all aspects of financial aid, and will assist you in filling out an official financial aid form if you wish. Also see internet options to determine financial aid eligibility.

Remember, WHEN IN DOUBT- APPLY!!

How To Apply for Financial Aid

The Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) available in November will put you into consideration for FEDERAL financial aid and college aid. Occasionally certain colleges will request a supplemental form in addition to the FAFSA. If so, the college will supply the form.

Mail the FAFSA as soon as possible after January 1. Every year you attend college, you may file a paper copy but electronic filing is preferable. Access the FAFSA at <http://www.educationquest.org> and <http://www.fafsa.ed.gov>. Do not mail it to the processing center before January 1. If your parents do not file tax information until late March, you should file estimated tax information. Do NOT wait until March or April to process a financial aid application. Late applications are the #1 reason for receiving a reduced financial aid package or, quite frequently, receiving NO aid at all.

When you file the FAFSA, you have the option of indicating which colleges are to receive the analysis. Send the analysis to all colleges you are considering, because it is difficult to add colleges later. Be sure to sign the application! COLLEGES WILL NOT BEGIN ANY FINANCIAL AID CONSIDERATIONS FOR A STUDENT UNLESS THEY HAVE AN APPLICATION FOR ADMISSION ON FILE!

Approximately eight to ten weeks, or sooner if submitted electronically, after you send in your application, you will receive the Student Aid Report (S.A.R.). Save this form (all pages) because you will need to submit it to the college of your choice.

College financial aid directors have some discretion and options for the financial aid awarded by their institution. If you have any unusual or unique financial situations, or if you wish to appeal the financial aid decision, contact the financial aid department of the college.

Kinds of State and Federal Financial Aid to Help You Stay Connected

Grants (funds that do not need to be paid back)

Federal Pell Grant is the grant that provides assistance to the neediest college students. Renewal is based upon continued eligibility as determined by a federal eligibility formula and maintenance of satisfactory academic performance. It is necessary to apply each year for the Pell Grant with the FAFSA.

Federal

Supplemental Education Opportunity Grant is awarded to students with high financial need. Renewal standards are similar to the Pell Grant. Each college determines the amount of the grant based on students' need and availability of money.

Federal College Work Study

Part of your financial aid package may include work study. The hourly pay will be at least minimum wage for five to twenty hours per week. In most cases, the jobs are arranged by the college although you may have some choice in the job you select.

Low Interest Loans

The Federal Perkins Loan is a low interest loan, approximately 5%, that varies with each college. You need to repay this loan; however, no interest accrues on the loan while you are in college. Your repayment period does not begin until nine months after you graduate, leave college, or drop below half time. You may borrow $3,000 yearly and a total of $15,000 as an undergraduate.

A second loan program called the Federal Stafford Loan has two segments—(1) “subsidized” which means that the federal government pays the interest (2) “unsubsidized” which means that you will be immediately responsible for the interest payments. Both are relatively low-interest loans; Interest rates change annually. The Federal Stafford Loan may require a separate application. If you qualify for the Stafford Loan you will be notified via your financial aid package from the college. Refer questions to your intended college regarding application procedures.

PLUS Loans

Parents who do not have a bad credit history can borrow a PLUS Loan to pay the education expenses of a child who is a dependent student enrolled at least half time in an eligible program at an eligible school. Repayment begins immediately.

Taxpayer Relief Act of 1997

Under the “HOPE” Scholarship” tax credit, students will receive a 100% tax credit for the first $1,000 of tuition and required fees and a 50% credit on the second $1,000. This credit is available for tuition and required fees less grants, scholarships, and other tax-free educational assistance. Contact the Educational Planning Center for more information.

The Lifetime Learning Tax Credit. This tax credit is designed for adults who want to go back to school, change careers, or take a course or two to upgrade their skills and to college juniors, seniors, graduate, and professional degree students. A family will receive a 20% tax credit for the first $5,000 of tuition and fees paid each year through 2002, and for the first $10,000 thereafter.

Parents and grandparents can create education IRAs and make penalty-free withdrawals from other IRAs for their own higher education expenses or those of their spouse, child, or even grandchild. In addition, for each child under age 18, families may deposit $500 per year into an Education IRA in the child’s name. Earnings in the Education IRA will accumulate tax-free and no taxes will be due upon withdrawal if the money is used to pay for post-secondary tuition.

Nebraska College Savings Plan

The Nebraska College Savings Plan offers many advantages: federal and state tax benefits, multiple investment options and the flexibility to attend public or private schools nationwide. Additionally, effective January 1, 2002 earnings on all qualified education withdrawals are exempt from federal taxes. There are also no age, income or residency restrictions. Call 1-888-993-3746 or visit the website at www.PlanForCollegeNow.com.

Other Aid Programs

Parents and students are encouraged to investigate other resources for financial assistance. This may require contact with other federal, state, and other agencies, such as Social Security Administration, Veterans Affairs Office, Bureau of Indian Affairs, Vocational Rehabilitation, and others.

ROTC Scholarships

The Reserve Officer Training Corps of the Army, Air Force and Navy (including the Marine option) offer an excellent scholarship program to the college-bound student willing to make a commitment to several years of active duty with the military after college. The ROTC scholarship provides an opportunity to attend a civilian college or university while studying officer training as part of the total undergraduate program. The scholarships may be for two to four years. After the first year, the student may choose to discontinue the scholarship without any obligations or pay backs of any kind.

The scholarship pays full tuition fees and textbooks, plus a $150 monthly allowance.

Early application for an ROTC scholarship is critical, either at the end of the junior year or by early October of the senior year. The application process is detailed and takes somewhat more time than most scholarships.

Active Military Service

Active service personnel can contribute to their own college fund and receive a considerable amount in benefits to help defray college costs.

Tuition Assistance Plans

Students who do not want to commit to a full time active military involvement may want to consider the Army Reserve (or other Reserve components), Nebraska (or other state) Air Guard Programs. The Army “Star” program is especially attractive for students interested in the health medical related areas. The Nebraska Air Guard provides significant tuition assistance at any state supported college, university, vocational or trade school in Nebraska. Your commitment is only one weekend of training per month plus 15 additional days usually in the summer. See your counselor for more information.
